 - (c) maternity benefits contemplated in Part D of this Chapter;
 - (d) adoption benefits contemplated in Part E of this Chapter; and
 - (e) dependant's benefits contemplated in Part F of this Chapter.
- (1A) A contributor who is employed as a domestic worker by more than one employer and whose employment is terminated by one or more employers is, despite still being employed, entitled to benefits in terms of this Act if the contributor's total income falls below the benefit level that the contributor would have received if he or she had become wholly unemployed.
- (2) An example of the scale of benefits to which a contributor is entitled is contained in Schedule 3, as calculated from Schedule
- (3)
 - (a) The Minister may, with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance, by notice in the Gazette and subject to subsection (4), amend the scale of benefits contained in Schedule 3 in accordance with a maximum monthly rate of remuneration of a skilled manual labourer as determined by the Social Security (Minimum Standards) Convention, 1953 (Convention No. 102), of the International Labour Organisation.
 - (b) The scale of benefits contemplated in paragraph (a) may vary between a maximum rate of 60% of remuneration for lower income contributors and a lower rate of remuneration for higher income contributors as will be determined by thresholds as set out in Schedule
- (4) When acting in accordance with subsection (3), the Minister must—
 - (a) consult with the Board and must have regard to budgeted—
 - (i) contribution and investment income from the Fund;
 - (ii) payment of benefits;
 - (iii) provision to meet expenses related to administering this Act; and

- (iv) provision for contingency reserves; and
- (b) comply with the procedure set out in section 55, with the changes required by the context.

13. Calculation of benefits

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), for purposes of calculating the benefits payable to a contributor, the daily rate of remuneration of a contributor, subject to the prescribed maximum, must be determined—
 - (a) if paid monthly, by multiplying the monthly remuneration by 12 and dividing it by 365;
 - (b) if paid weekly, by multiplying the weekly remuneration by 52 and dividing it by 365.
- (2) If the contributor's remuneration fluctuates significantly from period to period, the calculation must be based on the average remuneration of that contributor over the previous six months.
- (3) Subject to subsection (5), a contributor's entitlement to benefits in terms of this Chapter accrues at a rate of one day's benefit for every completed six days of employment as a contributor subject to a maximum accrual of 238 days benefit in the four year period immediately preceding the date of application for benefits in terms of this Chapter, less any days of benefit received by the contributor during this period.
- (4) For purposes of determining completed days of employment as contemplated in subsection (3), the period includes—
 - (a) the day that a contributor commenced employment and runs up to and including the day on which employment was terminated; and
 - (b) any period in respect of which—
 - (i) an employee was paid remuneration in lieu of notice;
 - (ii) a merchant seaman received remuneration in terms of section 140 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1951 (Act No. 57 of 1951).
- (5) The days of benefits that a contributor is entitled to in terms of subsection (3) may not be reduced by the payment of maternity benefits in terms of Part D of this Chapter. Method of calculating days of benefits that a contributor is entitled to:

Step 1 - Determine total number of days that an employee was employed as a contributor in the four-year period immediately preceding the date of application for benefits in terms of this Chapter.

Step 2 - Divide total number of days by 52 multiplied by seven and disregard any fraction of the resultant figure.

Step 3 - Subtract from this amount any days benefits (excluding maternity benefits) received in the four-year period immediately preceding the date of application for benefits in terms of this Chapter.

Step 4 - The resultant figure determines the days of benefits that a contributor is entitled to.

- (6) For the purposes of calculating the benefits of a contributor contemplated in section 12(1A), the total income derived from continued employment plus the amount of benefits calculated may not exceed the benefits that would have been paid if the contributor had become wholly unemployed.

SCHEDULE 2

MATHEMATICAL CALCULATION OF CONTRIBUTOR'S ENTITLEMENT

The benefit to which a contributor is entitled is calculated in one of two ways, depending on a contributor's income prior to becoming unemployed:

1. Contributors who earned less than a particular amount (known as the "benefit transition income level") are entitled to a percentage of their previous pay.
2. Contributors who earned more than the benefit transition income level are entitled to a flat benefit, equal to the entitlement of a contributor who was previously paid at the benefit transition income level.

The benefit transition income level

The 1953 International Labour Organisation Convention (Convention No. 102) stipulates that the wage of a skilled manual worker should determine the appropriate income level at which to set a ceiling for membership of a social insurance scheme. Over the years, South Africa's Unemployment Insurance scheme has roughly kept pace with this guideline. The benefit transition income level is therefore linked to this rate.

The current income ceiling is R8 099 per month. This will become the initial benefit transition income level for the purposes of this Act. However, in terms of section 12(3)(a), the Minister may change the benefit transition income level from time to time to reflect changing patterns of income.

Contributors who previously earned less than the benefit transition income level

For contributors who earned less than the benefit transition income level, entitlement to benefit is earnings-related. A contributor's entitlement is calculated according to the following formula:

$$\text{Benefit} = \text{Daily Income} * \text{IRR}$$

where IRR is the Income Replacement Rate corresponding to the contributor's daily income.

Daily Income

If a contributor was paid weekly, daily income is the weekly rate of pay divided by 7. If a contributor was paid fortnightly, daily income is the fortnightly rate of pay divided by 14. If a contributor was paid monthly, daily income is the monthly rate of pay multiplied by 12, and then divided by 365.

Income Replacement Rate

The Income Replacement Rate (IRR) determines the percentage of a contributor's previous income to which the contributor is entitled in the form of benefits. The IRR is a variable, so it defines a sliding scale. A contributor who previously earned a low wage is entitled to receive benefits representing a larger proportion of her or his previous income than a contributor who previously earned a higher wage.

The IRR is at its maximum when income equals zero, and it reaches its minimum where income is equal to the benefit transition income level. The maximum IRR is fixed at 60%. The minimum IRR is currently set at 38%. However, the Minister may vary the minimum IRR in terms of section 12(3)(b).

Using current values, the IRR can be calculated according to the following formula:

$$\text{IRR} = 29.2 + (99779.68 / (3239.6 + Y_i))$$

where Y_i represents a contributor's monthly rate of income. (Consistency of units is essential. To calculate IRR from daily or weekly rates of pay, please refer to the more detailed explanation of the IRR formula in the technical note below.)

Contributors who previously earned more than the benefit transition income level

Contributors who earned more than the benefit transition income level are entitled to a flat benefit equal to the benefit transition income level multiplied by the minimum IRR.

At the current benefit transition income level of R8 099 per month, this works out to R101.18 per day:

$$\text{Daily income} = (8099 * 12) / 365 = 266.2685$$

$$\text{IRR} = 38\% \text{ or } 0.38$$

$$\text{Benefit} = 266.2685 * 0.38 = 101.18$$

Duration of benefits

In terms of section 13(3), a contributor is eligible to receive one day's benefit for every six completed days of employment, up to a maximum of 238 days (34 weeks). A contributor will therefore be eligible to claim benefits for the maximum duration after being continuously employed for four years. If a contributor has already drawn benefits (other than maternity benefits) in terms of this Act in the preceding four years, the number of days for which the contributor is eligible to claim benefits will be reduced accordingly.

To calculate the number of days of benefits to which a contributor is entitled:

1. Determine the total number of days that the contributor was employed (and contributing) in the four-year period immediately preceding the date of application for benefits.
2. Divide the total number of days by 6, disregarding any remainder or fractional portion of the result.
3. Subtract the number of days (if any) for which the contributor claimed benefits (other than maternity benefits) in terms of this Act during the preceding four years.

Amount of benefit payment

The benefit payment to which a contributor is entitled in any given period shall be the amount of the benefit entitlement multiplied by the number of days for which the contributor is eligible to receive benefits during the payment period.

Technical note on the Calculation of IRR

The sliding scale for the Income Replacement Rate (IRR) is represented by a portion of the curve (rectangular hyperbola) produced by a graph of the function $y = 1/x$, where the y axis represents the IRR and the x axis represents income. However, in order to associate this curve with values that are meaningful for this purpose, it is necessary to apply adjusting formulae.

Calculating the IRR associated with any given level of income below the benefit transition income level can be done in three steps:

1. The rate of income is transformed into a corresponding value on the x axis (x_i).

The formula for this is:

$$Y_i = (x_i - x_1) YLRR / (x_2 - x_1) \quad (1)$$

where:

Y_i is the contributor's rate of income;

YLRR is the benefit transition income level; and x_1 and x_2 are constants that determine the portion of the curve that is used to calculate IRR.

The current values of the parameters YLRR, x_1 and x_2 are:

$$YLRR = R8\ 099 \text{ per month}$$

$$x_1 = 2$$

$$x_2 = 7$$

Using these values, expression (1) can be simplified to:

$$x_i = 2 + (Y_i / 1619.8) \quad (1a)$$

where Y_i is expressed as a monthly rate of income. [It is important to ensure that both the contributor's rate of income (Y_i) and the benefit transition income level (YLRR) are expressed in the same units—monthly, weekly, or daily.]

2. The y values corresponding to the x values are calculated using the general formula:

$$y = 1 / x \quad (2)$$

thus:

$$y_1 = 1 / x_1$$

$$y_2 = 1 / x_2$$

$$y_i = 1 / x_i$$

3. The y_i value is then converted to the corresponding IRR. The formula for this is:

$$IRR = LRR + (y_i - y_2) (URR - LRR) / (y_1 - y_2) \quad (3)$$

where:

IRR is the income replacement rate;

LRR is the lower (minimum) income replacement rate; and URR is the upper (maximum) income replacement rate.

The current values of the parameters LRR, URR, y_1 and y_2 are:

$$\text{LRR} = 38\%$$

$$\text{URR} = 60\%$$

$$y_1 = 1/2$$

$$y_2 = 1/7$$

Using these values, expression (3) can be simplified to:

$$\text{IRR} = 61.6y_i + 29.2 \quad (3a)$$

SCHEDULE 3

SCALE OF CONTRIBUTOR'S ENTITLEMENT TO BENEFITS (SECTION 12(2))

- (1) Table One is the scale of benefits to which a contributor may be entitled. A contributor's monthly rate of remuneration is set out in column 1. The percentage of the contributor's monthly income that will be paid as a benefit is set out in column 2. The actual benefit payable in Rand terms is set out in column 3.
- (2) Benefits below the transitional income level are earnings-related and fall as a proportion of income as income rises.
- (3) Contributors and employers of contributors earning above the income threshold of R97 188 per annum shall contribute 1% of the threshold and such income contributors shall receive benefits payable at this threshold level.
